The manuscript collection of the Carolina Room provides a unique opportunity for researchers to explore the original papers that once belonged to a particular family, club, person and businesses. These archives offer great insight into Charlotte's history. All of the collections are open to the public. The following finding guide identifies the manuscript papers that have been processed and readily available for study.

Consequently, if a collection has not been cataloged, it can only be viewed by appointment. At this time, this would include the W.J. Cash Collection, Charles Crutchfield Papers, Commercial National Bank Papers (1874-1948), Charlotte Consolidated Construction Company Papers, Theater Charlotte Papers, C.L. Coon Papers, Dulin Family Papers, Elizabeth College Papers, Golden Circle Theater, Harry Golden Collection, Latta Place Incorporated, Papers of the Mayor's Committee on Race Relations, Daniel Augustus Tompkins Collection, Vietnam War Memorial Ephemera, War Mothers (Charlotte Chapter), the Charles Wilkes Collection and the John & Jane Wilkes Papers.

Please do not hesitate to contact us regarding these collections. Above you will find various means to contact the department.
