

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1947 COLLECTION INVENTORY, 1947, 2003

[1 notebook]

ABSTRACT

Central High School opened around 1908 as Charlotte High School, and was the first public high school in the city. It was located at 1201 Elizabeth Avenue. In 1923, the school was renamed Central High School. In 1963, Mecklenburg College and the Central Industrial Education Center merged, and formed Central Piedmont Community College. Part of the Central campus today encompasses the former Central High building.

This collection contains clippings, documents, and photographs.
