(Small Collections—Clubs and Organizations) 2 folders, 2 artifacts

ABSTRACT

The Charlotte Folk Society was formed in 1982 by banjo picker and visiting artist resident, Wayne Erbsen, and homegrown guitarist and square dancer, Marilyn Meacham Price. Encouraged by Erbsen, Price began developing local interest in traditional music and events, eventually resulting in the Charlotte Folk Society. The organization is committed to “promoting the ongoing enjoyment and preservation of traditional and contemporary folk music, dance, crafts, and lore in the Carolinas Piedmont.” The Charlotte Folk Society continues to hold a regular Gathering on the second Friday of each month, at the Great Aunt Stella Center on Elizabeth Road. The Gatherings are free, and open to the public.

This collection includes printed materials and artifacts.
